Medical Cargo Flights

European medical institutions use our services to transport blood samples and medical organs throughout Europe, but few realise we also transport large and oversized medical equipment.

Although most medical equipment can easily fit onboard a small or medium sized cargo aircraft, we have access to a wide variety of large cargo airliners should you urgently need to transport larger medical items such as full length scanners.

Whatever the size of your medical cargo, if the cargo is time critical and you want to be confident it will arrive on time, then call IAS Medical now on 0870 042 1465.
